FALLING LIMB
CAUSES DEATHClyde Davis Suffered Fractured Skull
While Cutting Timber This Morning.

DIED ABOUT ONE O'CLOCK

No Hope Was Entertained For His Recovery — Leaves Widow
And Four Children.

Clyde Davis died shortly after one o'clock today at the home of Jacob Blackledge, northeast of the city, of injuries which he received this morning from a falling limb. The limb struck him in the back of the head and he suffered a fracture of the skull at the base of his brain. As soon as the physician examined him he knew it would only be a question of a few hours until he was dead. Davis was unconscious all the time.

No funeral services have been arranged.
DAVIS FOLLOW—

Davis was injured while cutting timber on the Jacob Blackledge farm, northeast of the city, this morning about 7:45 o'clock. He and his fellow workmen cut down a tree to be sawed up in logs. In falling, the tree came down with such force that it tore a big limb from another tree nearby.

When the tree struck the ground it brought the limb with it and left it standing erect. The limb was just barely caught in the branches of the felled tree, so that it was likely to fall at any minute. The men did not notice it, but went on about the work of sawing up the tree into logs. It was about forty-five minutes after the tree had been cut down when there was a big crash. The men looked around to see Davis lying stunned on the ground.

The limb was released from the branches and had fallen heavily to the ground striking Davis in the back of the head. There was scarcely any wound made in his head by the blow. Word was immediately sent to Will Joyce by whom the men are employed and Dr. W. S. Coleman rushed to the scene and took the injured man to the Blackledge residence on the farm.

Davis it will be remembered was the man who was up in police court several weeks ago on the charge of assault and battery and also on a charge of intoxication. He was fined and went to jail on the charge of drunkenness, it being his third appearance in the local police court. The charge of assault and battery which was preferred against him by a colored woman has never yet come before the court.

Davis has a wife and four young children who are in destitute circumstances. Mrs. Davis is unable to do any work and the case is one which is worthy the attention of the proper authorities.

THREE CASES FOR MONDAY

Twelve Names Are Drawn on the Special Venire of Jurors.

Twelve names were drawn on a special venire of jurors to report next Monday. Three cases are set for trial in the circuit court on that day. The case of the Clarksburg State Bank versus J. E. Hinchman on a note will come up then. The partition and quiet title suit of Ida Craig against Anna E. Headlee is also down for trial on that day. A change of venue case in which Claybourne D. Springer is suing the Hoosier Manufacturing company for $2000 will be heard Monday. This case came here from Henry county.

TEACHERS PROFIT BY VISIT

Instructors in Local Schools Got Many Good Suggestions.

The teachers who visited the schools in other places yesterday returned last night, and school work at home was resumed today. The teachers are unanimous in their decision that the day was a helpful one. They got many ideas by witnessing the work in other places, which they say will help them very much here.

YOUTHFUL PRODIGY
IN THE CORN FIELDClyde Martin Shucks Thirty-Five Bushels and Cribs it in 3½ Hours.

ONLY THIRTEEN YEARS OLD

Who ever heard of a youthful prodigy in a corn field? Well, here's one. Clyde Martin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Martin, shucked thirty-five bushels of corn at the farm, south of the city in just three and one-half hours by the clock. And this is not all he did. He also cribbed all of the corn which he shucked in that time. This is somewhat of a record when it is remembered that the youth is only thirteen years of age. Seventy bushels a day is considered a good day's work for a man, but here is a boy who betters that record and besides puts the corn all away in the crib.

GETTING FACTS ON
CITY MOVEMENTDean Norris of New Castle Courier
Here Getting Figures on Rushville.

HE THINKS WELL OF HERNLY

Dean Norris of the New Castle Courier was here yesterday evening looking up facts on city government. New Castle will have an election Tuesday to decide whether the town shall become a city. New Castle, at present, is under the town form of government. The Courier is obtaining facts to show that the "village" would be much better off under the city form of government. Mr. Norris was of the opinion that Rushville's form of government and management of its affairs were much more satisfactory than that of New Castle.

According to Mr. Norris the prosperity of the city can hardly be realized by persons who have not been there. Ninety-five houses are nearing completion, and everyone of them is taken and people are begging for more. Many families are living in tents. The most conservative estimate places the population of the city at 11,500.

"I see Hernly is coming," said Mr. Norris in looking over the Republican. "Well he's the man that can do the business. You'll never make a mistake in getting him."

It has been reported by the French commission formed for the purpose of making comparative studies of the vertical and inclined styles of handwriting, with regard to the health of school children, that are inclined style is far simpler and less fatiguing than the vertical style, and less likely to cause spinal curvature and other evil results.

FRIGHTENED COW
CAUSES TROUBLEAnimal Threatened Destruction to Anything Which Might Come in its Path.

FASTENED IN C. H. & D. YARDS

Knocked Will Carrigan off the Fence
When it Made Terrific Charge
With a Bellow.

"Somebody stop that mad cow or it will kill somebody," is only a sample of some of the exclamations around the C. H. & D. freight office this morning. The residents in that district were terrified by the awful bellowing and raging of the angry animal. But the cow was fastened up in the stock yards and there the danger of injury to anyone was not very great.

The animal seemed either crazy, angry or frightened and no end of arguing with the thing could stop its actions. The animal would charge the fence around the stock pen and threaten with each blow to riddle the whole yards. It was impossible to load it or keep it in one pen. Men were afraid to get down into the yard with the enraged animal for fear of meeting their death.

They sat up on the fence and tried to detract its attention by throwing stones and various other methods. Will Carrigan was seated on the high fence which held the animal in custody and trying to drive it into a car. Carrigan evidently became very offensive to the animal and it made a terrific charge at the fence directly where he was seated. The jar was so great that Carrigan was hurled through the air. He was uninjured by the fall.

There were many explanations for the peculiar actions of the cow, the most accepted opinion being that the cow was not accustomed to city ways and was only frightened. Others believed that the animal was enraged and was attempting to break away.

U. G. Beaver, who had bought the cow for shipment, intended to kill it and skin it there in the yards, but it was quieted about noon and finally loaded in the car.

BUCKNER'S PLEA
HALTS HIS TRIALColored Man Admits Assault Charge and the Intent Clause is Then Quashed.

FOR ATTACK ON "DUDE" PEA

After the jury had been impanelled and the State had rested in the case of the State against Samuel Buckner, colored, the defendant entered a plea of guilty to the assault charge and was fined $10 and costs. He gave a replevin bail for the fine.

Buckner, it will be remembered, was indicted by the grand jury following an attack on "Dude" Pea early last summer. There was much sympathy for Buckner and it was believed the fault was chiefly with Pea. The indictment charged the colored man with assault with intent to kill, but the intent charge was quashed when Buckner pleaded guilty to the assault charge. The replevin bail was furnished by Charles A. Frazee, postmaster, and Allen Daniels.

Ivy Lodge No. 35 K. of P. will have installation of officers tonight.

SANTA CLAUS TO VISIT EACH HOMEDaily Republican Has Made Special
Arrangements With Him to Make Children Happy.

FUND STARTS ON DECEMBER 1

Women Will Assist in Making Christmas the Happiest Rushville
Youngsters Ever Enjoyed.

Santa Claus will enlarge his route this year and will visit every boy and girl in Rushville. The Daily Republican has made special arrangements with him, and together the paper and Santa Claus have settled on a plan by which every home in the city can be visited. Owing to a lack of funds and some misfortune the old man has often found it necessary to slight several homes, and as a result Christmas has not been very happy for several children in the past.

The Daily Republican has agreed to raise the money and Santa Claus is to do the work. The management of the paper believes that a good sized amount can be raised by small contributions from people all over the county. It will be no sacrifice to individuals and yet the happiness that the little contributions will bring can not be estimated.

The plan to make Christmas the most happy one ever enjoyed by the children in this city resembles somewhat that conducted by the Indianapolis Star. The money is to be sent to the Republican Santa Claus fund, and each day the announcement of contributions will be made. As soon as the money is received it will be turned over to Mrs. T. W. Betker and Mrs. A. L. Stewart, who have kindly consented to aid the Republican in this work. The Tri Kappa sorority will also assist Santa Claus in using the Republican fund for the happiness of the children.

No fund will be received, however until about December first, and definite announcement will be made as to when Santa Claus headquarters will open.

JURY DISAGREES
OVER A LAP ROBEJurors Out Five Hours on Risk Case
Ten of Twelve Vote For an Acquittal.

TWO INDICTEMENTS RETURNED

The Risk jury spent five hours discussing a lap robe yesterday afternoon and then could not determine who had stolen it or who had received it. The jury was out from one o'clock until six and finally disagreed. They stood ten to two for acquittal at the time they came out. There were two charges against Risk, one for petit larceny and another for receiving stolen goods. It was alleged in the indictment that Risk had stolen Walter Sharp's lap robe and that it had been found in his possession.

CANCER CAUSE OF DEATH

Mrs. Fred Rightly, Formerly of This City, Dies in Kansas.

Mrs. W. A. Jones has received word of the death of Mrs. Fred Rightly at Salina, Kansas. Mrs. Rightly was formerly Miss Jennie Morgan and she lived in West First street in the Gantner property. Her death was due to cancer, and she is survived by a son and daughter.

MORRISTOWN HAS
A NEW MINISTERThe Rev. N. R. Webber of Indianapolis Accepts Call to the Christian Church There.

HE EXPECTS TO MOVE THERE

The Rev. N. R. Webber of Indianapolis has accepted a call from the congregation of the Morristown Christian church and will begin his duties as pastor Sunday morning, says the Shelbyville Democrat. The church has been without the services of a pastor for several months and during this time several different ministers have filled the pulpit. The new pastor came to Indianapolis recently from the New England States and is a young man with a very promising future. He will preach at Morristown one-half of his time, but he has not definitely decided where he will preach the remaining half. While it is the intention of the new minister to move to Morristown for permanent residence in the near future, he will not locate there until he has a call from another church so that all of his time will be taken.

WATER IN THE GAS
CAUSED TROUBLERushville Natural Gas Co.'s Patrons
Experienced Some Difficulty in First Cold Weather.

OUT ALL DAY IN SOME PLACES

Patrons of the Rushville Natural Gas company experienced some trouble yesterday when it was the first real cold weather which has come so far this fall. The gas was uncertain all day and in some portions of the city it was off all together. In other places it flickered up occasionally and then went down as suddenly. It is said that the cause for that is the water in the gas. The men opened the regulator at the corner of Harrison and Fourth streets yesterday to turn on more gas. When one of the pipes was opened up a solid stream of water poured from it for several hours. They hoped to have the gas working all right today.

OUR SANTA CLAUSE FUND.

The Daily Republican has arranged to help make Christmas happy for every boy and girl in the city. Funds will be received and announcements made of the contribution each day. HOWEVER, FUNDS WILL NOT BE RECEIVED UNTIL ABOUT DECEMBER 1 AND FURTHER ANNOUNCEMENT WILL BE MADE BEFORE THE FUND IS STARTED.

CORN SHREDDER
STOPS PROGRESSOne Gets Stuck on Track and Delays
Fast Mail Train on the
C. H. & D.

PASSENGERS ASSIST FARMER

Traffic, Mail and Farmer's Work Are Delayed Thirty Minutes at Morristown.

There are some things which will stop the wheels of progress in spite of the demand for speed. And even the fact that Uncle Sam's mail is being delayed does not cut any figure.

This was demonstrated when the fast mail train on the C. H. & D., due here at 2:15 was stopped for thirty minutes at Morristown, Tuesday afternoon. And as a result a new crime has been charged against the much abused corn shredder.

It all happened this way. Jesse Myers, a Shelby county farmer, in company with his two brothers, Edward and Virgil, and Orville Merriek, started across the C. H. & D. tracks in Morristown. The shredder caught on the track and stuck there. Coaxing and urging didn't have any effect on it at all. It just stayed there. The fast train was flagged and much as he disliked to, the engineer had to stop the train. Then the crew and the passengers all got busy on the contrary corn shredder. They were all just a bit vexed or worse than that, but they just kept on working.

Finally the pesky shredder was loosened and the track cleared and the train started on after fooling with that measly old corn shredder just thirty minutes.

At first some of the passengers wanted to get mad about it, but then they saw how foolish it would be, so they didn't. Of course, the poor farmer couldn't help it, and the chances are that his time was just as important to him as the time lost was to the passengers and the train crew, and Uncle Sam's mail.

HALL FACES JURY
IN WAYNE COUNTYAlleged Insurance Graftor Who Worked Local Physician on Trial at Richmond.

HAS BEEN IN JAIL SOME TIME

Earl T. Hall, who it is alleged swindled a local physician out of $30, was put on trial in the Wayne circuit court yesterday afternoon. The regular petit jury is hearing the case. The grand jury there returned an indictment charging Hall with embezzlement.

The indictment alleges that Hall, alias Howard S. Shaffer, alias Harold T. Hall, collected $30.10, being the first premium on a life insurance policy sold to Dr. Roy D. Morrow of Richmond by the Western Reserve Life insurance company of Muncie, Ind., and failed to turn the cash over to the company, but appropriated it to his own use. Hall has been in jail some time in default of $500 bond.

Afraid of Ghosts

Many people are afraid of ghosts. Few people are afraid of germs. Yet the ghost is a fancy and the germ is a fact. If the germ could be magnified to a size equal to its terrors it would appear more terrible than any fire-breathing dragon. Germs can't be avoided. They are in the air we breathe, the water we drink.

The germ can only prosper when the condition of the system gives it free scope to establish itself and develop. When there is a deficiency of vital force, languor, restlessness, a sallow cheek, a hollow eye, when the appetite is poor and the sleep is broken, it is time to guard against the germ. You can fortify the body against all germs by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It increases the vital power, cleanses the system of clogging impurities, enriches the blood, puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in working condition, so that the germ finds no weak or tainted spot in which to breed. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed on its outside wrapper. It is not a secret nostrum but a medicine of known composition and with a record of 40 years of cures. Accept no substitute—there is nothing "just as good." Ask your neighbors.

WHY SALVES FAIL TO CURE ECZEMA

They Clog the Pores—Only a Liquid Can Reach the Inner Skin.

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin disease. But it has found that these salves only clog the pores and can not penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged.

This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the only standard liquid eczema cure, oil of wintergreen as compounded in D. D. D. Prescription. After ten years of cure after cure, the world's leading skin specialists have accepted this as the true eczema cure.

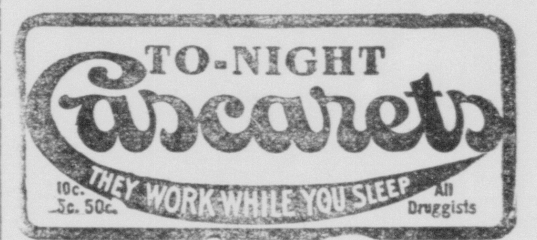

We ourselves do not hesitate to recommend D. D. D. Prescription at $1.00 a bottle, but for the benefit of those who have never tried the prescription, we arranged with the D. D. Laboratories of Chicago for a special large trial bottle at 25 cents on a special offer now. This first bottle ought to convince every sufferer, and, at any rate, it will surely take away the itch at once.

No More Gray Hair.

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made and used a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair, and are fast following suit. The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready to use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulpher. As a scalp tonic and color restorer, this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers, and it can be bought for 50 cents and $1 a bottle at almost any first-class drug store, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

TO BE SEALED WITH CONCRETE

If a Last Attempt to Reach Entombed Miners Being Made This Afternoon Fails, the Mine Will Be Hermetically Sealed With a View to Smothering Flames—Angry and Despairing Women Gathered in Crowds About the Shaft Clamor For Vengeance for Their Loved Ones Below.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 18.—At the main shaft that leads to the tomb of the more than 300 miners entrapped by Saturday's explosion, harangues have been made. Mine owners have clashed with the state over the production of evidence to show the child labor law was violated by the coal company. Strong differences have arisen in the conference of experts in charge of the situation.

Every man in the mine must die unless rescued today. If a last attempt to reach the men which is being made this afternoon fails as the two previous attempts have, the mine will be sealed with concrete.

The two companies of militia are preparing for trouble. Disorder is feared if efforts to take out the men are abandoned or fail. The conference of experts announced that its members are certain every man in the mine is dead. When the families and friends hear this, incendiary speeches may drive them to violent expression of the threats and charges voiced here all day. Angry and despairing women gathered in crowds around the shaft and lynching and crucifixion were advocated. Incited by women, half crazed by the delays and failures of the rescue work, a shouting, cursing crowd vowed vengeance for the men below.

No attempt was made to go into the mine yesterday. For six hours the score of experts argued for their different ways of taking out the bodies. They split on the question of again opening the main shaft, the action that caused the almost extinguished fire to rage anew two days ago. Every phase of the situation was discussed and it was agreed without dissent that the men are all dead and that present efforts are only to take out the bodies before all become unrecognizable.

This conference resulted in a decision to make an exploring descent in preparation for the final attempt to reach the men.

NICK SPEAKS OUT

Longworth's Compliments to Woman Who Put His Wife in a Book.

Cincinnati, Nov. 18.—When Congressman Nicholas Longworth's attention was called to the story by a German woman in which his wife was described arrayed in scarlet riding habit and tight trousers and smoking a big cigar, leading a cavalcade to the late empress of Korea's grave, he said quietly but emphatically: "I know nothing about the book or the author referred to; never heard of either before, but the writer of this specific article was either drunk or crazy, or both. That is the most charitable way of considering the matter. In no other way can I be induced to consider or refer to it."

Losses Claimed by the Krupps. Pittsburgh, Nov. 18.—That at least $500,000 per year is being lost to or withheld from the Krupps by the Carnegies and other steel firms using their patents was one of the features brought out in taking testimony in the case of the Krupps and the Carnegies against the Midvale Steel company. The latter concern is being accused of unwarranted use of ideas patented by the Krupps.

Couldn't Stand Gloomy Day. Evansville, Ind., Nov. 18.—"This is such a gloomy day that I wish to die," remarked John W. Grant, aged sixty-six and a veteran of the civil war, "and I am going to kill myself." Grant carried out his threat and taking a dose of poison, died soon afterward in agony.

Surprised the Marshal. Kankakee, Ill., Nov. 18.—In searching a drug store for burglars James Graves, town marshal of Sheldon, Ill., discovered one of the two young men hiding under a counter to be his own son. Both boys were placed under arrest.

Dropped Dead Before Class. Galena, Ill., Nov. 18.—Sister Sixtine Gaf, for the last seven years an instructor in the parochial school in St. Mary's Catholic church here, dropped dead of heart trouble while teaching a class.

Didn't Like Her Work. Pana, Ill., Nov. 18.—Miss Elizabeth King, twenty-three years old, a school teacher, committed suicide by drinking strychnine. She was despondent because of unpleasantness in her school duties.

VICTIM OF HORRID CRIME

Young Girl Foully Slain in Lonely Spot at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Nov. 18.—In an abandoned real estate office at North and Humboldt avenues, the body of Helen Zinda, a pretty girl, fourteen years old, who had been missing from her home since Friday, has been found. Finger marks on her neck indicate she was strangled to death. After she had been killed she was placed in a sitting position under a desk. The police are searching for two young men.

The real estate office, which is in a lonely section, had been entered by the window being pried open. Dust marks showed where the girl had been dragged across the floor. One of the two chairs in the room show marks of having been hurled against the wall, and it is believed that the girl struggled with her captors and used the chair as a weapon. The disordered condition of the office showed that the girl had made a brave fight to protect her honor and her life.

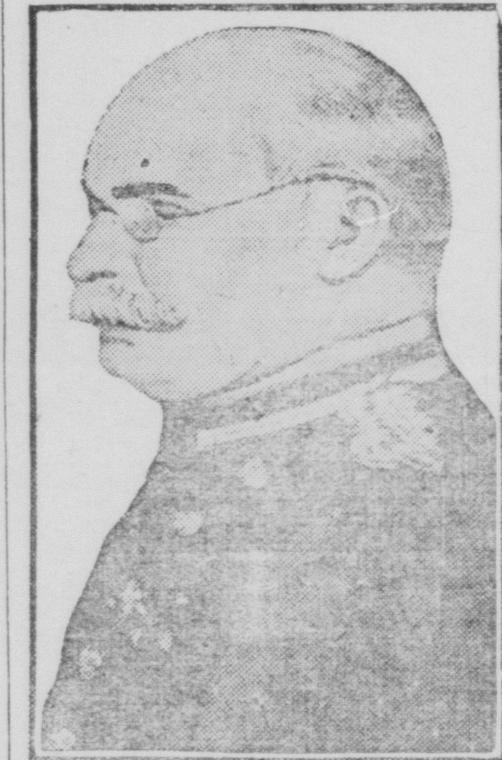

Another Cruel Crime.

Troy, N. Y., Nov. 18.—The body of Caroline Gorgan, aged twenty-seven, a factory employe, was found in a clump of bushes near the Hudson. The autopsy revealed she had been criminally assaulted. The police are looking for a man who is said to have been with the young woman Monday evening.

of most of the serious breaches of discipline and must be held down with a strong hand. Every possible step has been taken in an attempt to eradicate it, but it appears that there are a few in almost every class who violate the act of congress forbidding it, and whose ideas of their responsibility to the government continue to be elementary, notwithstanding all the teaching and warning that can be brought to bear upon them."

SAYS PASTOR BEAT HER

Mrs. Jolly of Joliet Sues Lecturer For Divorce.

Joliet, Ill., Nov. 18.—Divorce proceedings have been begun by Mrs. F. P. Jolly against the Rev. Franklin Pierce Jolly, Congregational minister and lecturer, alleging assault and extreme cruelty. Jolly organized the Congregational church in this city, but of late has been on the lecture platform, speaking under the auspices of various church and charitable organizations.

He returned home from a lecture tour and Mrs. Jolly alleges he beat her cruelly. The police were called and the minister was taken to jail. He is out on bail.

Stetson Case Apparently Closed. Boston, Nov. 18.—After spending eight hours in "conference" with directors of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, the "admonished" leader of the New York branch, left her hotel last evening to return to her home in New York. Her departure appears to have closed the case, so far as her appearance before the directors is concerned, though it is possible that the directors may have further conferences before they arrive at any conclusion.

He Ran Athwart the Law.

New Orleans, Nov. 18.—Edward Von Buelow, a first cousin of Prince Von Buelow of Germany, committed suicide by jumping into the river because he was married to an octoroon woman. He was arrested a week ago charged with violating the law which prohibits such relations between the races.

Secretary of State Knox has made diplomatic representations to Great Britain and Germany in the hope of ending the present deadlock in Chinese railroad loan negotiations.

APPARENTLY NO PUBLIC MENACE

Trust Busters Easy About the Wire Merger.

PROBABLE VIOLATION OF LAW

But For All That, the Department Holds That Such Combinations Are Likely to Be Beneficial to the Public in the Way of Improved Service and Cheaper Rates—It Is Announced That Federal Authorities Have Been Keeping an Eye on This Big Combine For the Past Six Months.

Washington, Nov. 18.—For the past six months the federal authorities here have had knowledge of the Western Union Telegraph and the American Telephone and Telegraph merger. They have been kept constantly advised as the plan has developed.

There is no indication in official circles of any immediate steps to enjoin the merger or attack it in the courts, either in a civil or criminal action. The policy of the attorney general's office under the present administration has become so well established in dealing with such matters that its future course with respect to the latest combination can be accurately fore-shadowed.

There has not been any disposition on the part of the federal authorities to move against those combinations which offer no menace to the public in the way of higher prices or in restraint of trade. The department holds that while such combinations may be a violation of the law, their effect on the public is more than likely to be beneficial, which will mean improved service and probably cheaper rates, because the people retain the power to control the charges, either through federal or state authority.

MOVING ALONG

Tennessee Night Rider Cases Again Occupying Attention of Court.

Union City, Tenn., Nov. 18.—Two more indictments have been returned in the night rider cases. Fred Pinion was indicted for murder in the first degree and Ed Marshall for entering the premises of a private citizen in disguise. Rice Pierce, chief counsel for the defense, did not file a plea of abatement as he stated he would, but instead said he hoped to be ready for trial by the time the jury was completed, whereupon Judge Jones ordered a panel of 250 men from which to secure the jury, and furnished the sheriff with a list of names of the men to be summoned. Frank Tehringer, the star witness for the state in the previous trials, will be brought here from Nashville and in all probability will be the first witness called by the state against Garrett Johnson and Arthur Clear.

WOMEN TESTIFY

Important Admissions Said to Have Been Secured in Highshew Case.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 18.—Following the grand jury's investigation of the Highshew murder case at Mishawaka there is a rumor that State's Attorney Pattee has secured important admissions from several of the women summoned as witnesses. It is known that five women have testified before the grand jury relative to the murder and that as many more will be called upon to appear. The prosecutor refuses to deny or affirm a statement that one of the women admitted having carried on a clandestine love affair with the murdered man notwithstanding she was married.

SHOT WITHOUT WARNING

Pellagra Victim's Melancholy Leads to Tragedy in Tennessee.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 18.—A steadily growing case of melancholia brought on by a prolonged attack of rheumatism, complicated with pellagra, caused Mrs. Henry Clark, wife of a well-known business man of Buntyn, to shoot and kill W. A. Dowd, postmaster at Buntyn. She engaged him in conversation as he was leaving her home and without warning pulled a revolver and began to shoot. Mrs. Clark has been placed in jail with a nurse attending her.

Big Investment in a Life.

Kansas City, Nov. 18.—Insurance of one and a half million dollars has been applied for on the life of George E. Nicholson, forty-nine years old, of Kansas City, by two of the companies of which he is the head. Insurance men say this is the largest amount of life insurance ever sought at one time upon the life of one person in the history of insurance.

Not Heard From Since Storm.

New York, Nov. 18.—The Astor yacht Nourmahal is still missing. No news of the vessel has been received since she put out from Kingston, Jamaica, on Nov. 5, bound for the nearby port of San Juan, Porto Rico. Since then a disastrous hurricane has swept over Jamaica and Hayti.

ALLEGED DETAILS OF BIG SHORTAGE

What Purports to Be Warriner's
Confession.

Cincinnati, Nov. 18.—An alleged confession by C. L. Warriner, the Big Four defaulter, as it is understood Warriner detailed to County Prosecutor Hunt, from a seemingly authoritative source was made public. Much of the story has been printed before.

This story of a confession as related has it that a shortage had existed in the accounts of a clerk under Warriner while Warriner was assistant to a previous incumbent of the Big Four treasurer's office. This shortage, it is alleged, was $23,000. At the time the clerk confessed to Warriner, contrary to general belief, the ex-clerk did not know that Warriner himself was short. The clerk did not know, the alleged confession states, that other officials higher up were short. Warriner, it is alleged, was concealing this to protect others. In using this knowledge, which the woman in the case had obtained from the ex-clerk, as a leverage on Warriner, she demanded a large amount of money, running into the thousands. This woman, it seems, followed the ex-clerk to Chicago, being enamored of him, and created the trouble between the ex-clerk and his wife. Later on the woman took the matter up direct with Warriner, claiming the ex-clerk was not giving her money enough, and she also made threats that unless money was furnished her, either direct or through the ex-clerk, she would reveal her knowledge of the ex-clerk's shortage. Even then she did not know Warriner was short.

She said she would expose not only her knowledge of the ex-clerk's shortage, but also other irregularities connected with the Big Four treasurer's office. These demands on Warriner, it is claimed, were continued over a long interval and almost to the present time. The demands continuously grew larger, it is said.

VICTIM OF BANDITS?

This Is the Question Chicago Police Are Asking in Collins Case.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Was Kreigh Collins, former western tennis champion, murdered and his body placed on the streetcar tracks? Mr. Collins's body was found on the streetcar tracks in Erie street west of Franklin. It had been run over by a car and the police concluded that death had been accidental.

Residents of the neighborhood reported, however, that they heard two revolver shots about the time Collins was killed. This gave rise to a theory that Collins may have been dead before the streetcar passed over his body.

The body was in such a mangled state that the police were unable to determine whether Collins had received bullet wounds. One theory is that Collins may have shot himself, but the general belief is that if he died from bullet wounds they were inflicted by a hold-up man.

Repenting at Leisure.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 18.—Clyde Lewis, real estate and insurance man, has been missing for two weeks. The firms from which he bought his office furniture have taken it back, and his bride has gone to her parents. He was reported as having been seen at his old home in Casey, Ill., and that he was on his way to Oklahoma. The forsaken bride knew him for a few weeks only when she consented to marry him.

Lone Bandit Keeping It Up.

Indianapolis, Nov. 18.—A lone robber with a revolver held up two grocers in the east part of the city last evening. His combined collections amounted to more than $50. This is the fourth case of the kind within a week.

ROY HARROLD, City Editor.

Thursday, November 18, 1909.

New Castle would like to have a city charter, but is afraid of the price.

The ruling of Judge Vestal that a city can not engage in mercantile business, is in line with what the Republican has always advocated. Neither a city, State or National government of these United States has a constitutional right to engage in mercantile enterprises but they are doing it. The sooner this is stopped the better it will be in the long run. A Republican form of government should not be Socialistic community, where all purchases are made and supplies furnished by the general government, and all the earnings go into the national treasury.

The following from the Columbus Republican is equally true here: Every time violators of the fish and game laws of the State are arrested a howl, long and loud, goes up from those most interested. The culprits themselves, together with those who in some manner are more or less benefited by the violation—the receivers of the contraband goods—protest most vehemently against the enforcement of the law. There may be more or less of legitimate argument against the fish and game laws of Indiana, but law abiding citizens do not feel particularly resentful toward laws that are persistently violated nor particularly sympathetic toward the violators thereof. Few unpopular laws—and laws are not always bad because they are unpopular—are repealed because a certain class of people persist in ignoring them. Neither are really bad laws always eliminated from the statute books because of widespread violations. It is the duty of all good citizens to bow to the majesty of the law—be it fish and game law, the local option law or what not. If the law is found to be really bad there is a well known avenue always open which leads to amendment or repeal.

RUNAWAY VICTIM MAY YET RECOVER

Jasper Miller Has Been Unconscious
Since the Time of the Accident
Yesterday.

COMPLICATIONS MAY ARISE

Jasper Miller, who suffered a concussion of the brain yesterday in a runaway, is about the same today. The physicians say that if there is any change at all he is slightly improved. He has been unconscious since the accident yesterday and up until three o'clock this afternoon showed no signs of regaining consciousness. There is still some doubt as to his recovery. There are still chances of complications arising which the physicians can not at present ascertain. He may have a hemorrhage which would be very dangerous or a fracture of the skull may be discovered.

A number of children attending the public schools have been in the habit of buying "all-day suckers" and passing them from one child to another and an effort is now being made to put a stop to this practice. Disease of the throat and lungs can be easily communicated in this manner. There is no danger if one child alone uses a "sucker," but the danger lies in five or six of them using the same one.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

(Greenfield Tribune.)

Judge Meade Vestal of Noblesville has held in a case that a city can not engage in a mercantile business. The ruling is an important one and was accepted by the city of Frankfort, which was enjoined from selling electric light bulbs on petition of J. S. Kelley, an electrician, who claimed that his business was injured, as the city sold bulbs at a much lower price than he could sell them.

The city filed a demurrer to the complaint and the case was referred to Judge Vestal of Noblesville, for trial. Judge Vestal was at Frankfort Thursday and overruled the demurrer filed by the city to the complaint, and his ruling practically left the city without any ground to stand on in court. He held that if a city had the right to engage in the sale of electric light bulbs, by the same rule it had the right to sell gas stoves and gas fixtures where gas was piped into houses in the city. Judge Vestal also held that the city had no right to use money collected by taxation with which to purchase the light bulbs.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

HAAS GETS PLACE.

(Richmond Item.)

"Congressman Barnard has announced to me that he will recommend my appointment to the postmastership of Richmond. The matter of an assistant postmaster was discussed at some length, but left for final settlement with me, and I have decided upon Henry Deuker as the most desirable person for that position."

This announcement was made last evening by Edgar M. Haas. It settles finally the long drawn out post-office dispute and puts an end to the competition between Mr. Haas, J. A. Spekenhiser, the present incumbent; John E. Peltz, Henry W. Deuker and William Meerhoff. Mr. Haas, if Congressman Barnard's recommendation to President Taft is approved, and the President's nomination is confirmed by congress, will take the postmastership July 1, 1910. Mr. Spekenhiser's term expires May 17, but he probably will conclude the year's business before retiring.

The office pays $3200 per year, and if the present increase in business continues bids fair to go to $3300 before the end of the next term. The position of assistant or deputy postmaster pays $1600, and, like that of the postmaster, depends upon the receipts of the office.

Mr. Haas' appointment occasions no great surprise. It was understood that he was to have the place as a reward for his efforts as district chairman during the last presidential campaign. He has been clerk of the Wayne circuit court, and upon his retirement from that office three years ago became secretary of the Commercial club which office he now holds.

AMUSEMENTS

The Kramer rink will be open for skating this evening.

The Vaudet will have a Biograph bill again tonight. The films are "A Note in the Shoe" and "One Busy Hour." Both subjects are very good. The song will be "Dixie Moon."

The Palace will show two good films tonight. One is "The Suitors' Competition," and the other is "He Learns the Trick of Mesmerism." Both are extremely funny. Miss Iva Brown will sing "Daddy Wants Someone, Too." The management will have for Monday the great film entitled "Drink." This film comes in two reels of 1000 feet each and will make a show of about 40 minutes in length.

The Star-Grand presents tonight one of the Selig's greatest melodramas ever produced entitled "The Drunkard's Fate." It is a picture story that teaches a great temperance lesson. The acting, the ensembles, the photographic excellence are all here in true Selig perfection. You cannot afford to miss this temperance masterpiece. Nothing like it since Zola startled the world with his lurid L'Assomoir. Earl Robertson will sing "Slip on Your Gingham Gown."

Revival Meetings.

A ten days revival meeting will be held at Moscow beginning Tuesday, Nov. 23. E. L. Frazier of Morristown will have the meeting in charge.

If you want the best remedy for your cold, insist upon Bees Laxative Cough Syrup. Through its laxative principle, it gently moves the bowels, and in that way drives the cold from the system. Sold by Lytle's Drug Store.

Rummage Sale.

Section one of the Ladies Aid Society of St. Paul's M. E. church will hold an exchange and rummage sale in the Guffin room Saturday, beginning at ten o'clock. A good grade of men's women's and children's clothing will be offered for sale and the exchange will be a feature. 214t2

CHAPTER XV.

THE ARIA FROM "IL TROVATORE."

"SHALL we take a look into the Campo Formosa again tonight?" asked Merrihew, stepping into the gondola.

"It will be a waste of time. Bettina will have warned them. What's the Italian coming to, anyhow? She refused a hundred francs. But I can see that Mrs. Sandford had a hand in this latest event. She has probably written that we might look for them in the Campo."

"All right. We'll listen to the music," grumbled Merrihew. He wanted to find Kitty right away. Hillard's indifference annoyed him.

"To the barges of the troupes!" said Hillard to Achille.

In the great canal of San Marco the scene was like a water carnival. Hundreds of gondolas, with bobbing lights, swam slowly round the barges of the serenaders, who, for the most part, were fallen operatic stars or those who had failed to attain those dizzy heights.

What was that? Hillard was no longer lethargic.

From a gondola on the far side of the barge, standing out of the press and just beyond the radiance of the lanterns, came a voice which had a soul in it, a voice which broke into song for the pure joy of it—clear, thrilling—a voice before which the world bows down. The prima donna in the barge was clever; she stopped. The tenor went on, however, recognizing that he was playing opposite, as they say, to a great singer. Hillard's heart beat fast. That voice! There could not be another like it. And she was here in Venice!

"Quick, Achille!" for the far gondola was heading for the Grand canal.

Merrihew understood now.

"Follow!" commanded Hillard. "Ten lire if you can come up alongside that gondola. Can you see the number?"

"It is 152, signor—Pompeo. It will be a race."

At each stroke Merrihew swung forward his body. The end of the race came sooner than any one expected. A police barge nosed round an ell. By the time Pompeo was off again the ferrule of the pursuing gondola scraped past Pompeo's blade. Pompeo called, and Achille answered. There was a war of words, figure of a dog, name of a pig. Achille was in the wrong, but 10 lire were 10 lire.

Hillard caught the gondola by the rail and clung. The race was over.

"Signorina," said Pompeo, boiling with rage, "shall I call the police?"

"No, Pompeo," said his solitary passenger.

"To the Campo, Pompeo. Mr. Hillard, will you kindly follow? I would speak to you alone, since there is no escape."

The way to the Campo Formosa was made without further incident.

The gondolas became moored. Hillard jumped out and went to assist La

Signorina, but she ignored his outstretched hand.

"What is it you wish?" she asked.

"One look at your face," he answered simply.

She slowly removed the veil. Then, for the first time, he looked upon the face of this woman who had burdened his dreams. The face was not like any he had conjured. It seemed to him that Vecchio's—Paola Vecchio's—Barbara had stepped down from her frame—beauty, tranquil, flawless beauty. A minute passed. He was incapable of speech; he could only look.

"Well?" she said in the same expressionless tone.

"Let us begin at the beginning," he replied.

"Since this is to be the end."

"Why did you permit me to dine with you that memorable night?"

"A regrettable impulse."

"And why, after all had come to an apparent end—why did you send me that mask?"

"It is unanswerable. Truthfully I do not know."

"Who is that man—the Italian with the scar?"

"I will not answer that."

"A lady? Grace of Mary, that is droll!"

"Why do you say that?"

"I am only quoting the man with the scar. Those were the words he used in regard to you."

"Perhaps he is right. Perhaps I am not a lady according to his lights."

But she laughed.

"Do not laugh like that. What you are or have been or might have been to him is nothing to me. Only one fact remains clear, and that is I love you."

"No, Mr. Hillard, you are only excited. I may be a fugitive from the law."

"I do not believe it."

"There may be scars which do not show," she faltered—"in the heart, in the mind. I am sorry, terribly sorry. Heaven knows that I meant no harm. Forget me!"

A Startling Statement

New York Medical Authorities Claim
Dyspepsia to be a Pre-Disposing
Cause of Consumption.

The post mortem statistics of the big New York hospitals show that some cases of consumption are due, at least indirectly, to unchecked dyspepsia, especially when the victim was predisposed to tuberculosis.

Dyspepsia wears out the body and brain. The weakened, irritable stomach being unable to digest food the body does not receive the required nourishment, and the victim becomes thin, weak and haggard. As a result, the body becomes a fertile field in which the germs of disease may lodge and flourish.

Therefore, the person who permits dyspepsia to progress unhindered is guilty of contributing toward the development of one of the most insidious and fatal diseases known to mankind.

Dyspepsia may be completely eradicated if properly treated. We sell a remedy that we positively guarantee will completely relieve indigestion or dyspepsia, or the medicine used during the trial will cost the user nothing.

This remedy has been named Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Certainly our outfit could be more fair, and our offer should be proof positive that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are a dependable remedy.

Inasmuch as the medicine will cost you nothing if it does not benefit you, we urge you who are suffering with indigestion or dyspepsia to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. A 25-cent box contains enough medicine for fifteen days' treatment. For chronic cases we have two larger sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Rushville only at our store—The Rexall Store, Lytle's Drug Store.

"Forget you! Tell me what prevents friendship between us."
"You say you love me. Is that not answer enough? Give up all idea, all thought, of me. You will only waste your time. Come, is your love strong enough to offer a single sacrifice?"
"Not if it is to give you up. Oh, do not worry about persecution! I shall only seek to be near you."

"Good night," she said, "and good-by!" She wound the veil round her face, took half a dozen steps, halted and turned, then went on into the dark.

The Villa Ariadne rested upon a small knoll half a mile or more north of and above Fiesole, from which the panoramic beauty of Florence was to be seen at all times, glistening in the sun, glowing in the rain, sparkling in the night.

Life ran smoothly enough at the Villa Ariadne. La Signorina at the very last moment surrendered to the entreaties of Kitty. She agreed not to pass herself off as the princess. Among themselves each played the role originally assigned. La Signorina seemed to enjoy the farce as much as any one. It was a great temptation not to steal a look into the marvelous chests and sideboards, bulging as they knew with priceless glass and silver and linen and laces. But La Signorina each day inspected the seals and uttered solemn warnings.

They had now lived in the Villa Ariadne for two weeks, a careless, thoughtless, happy go lucky family.

Today was warm and mellow. On the stone bench by the porter's lodge hard by the gate sat the old Florentine and O'Mally. From some unknown source O'Mally had produced a congerie's hat and coat, a little moth eaten, a little tarnished, but serviceable.

"Pietro," said O'Mally, "I've got an idea. If any tourists come today I propose to show them around the place."

Pietro's eyes flashed angrily. "No, no! Mine, all mine!"

"Oh, I am not going to rob you! I'll give you the tip. What I want is the fun of the thing."

Pietro understood. That was different. If his excellency would pay over to him the receipts he could conduct the tourists as often as he pleased.

She slowly removed the veil.

They shared a flask of wine.

The porter's bell rang loudly.

"Tourists!" whispered O'Mally. He settled his cap on straight and went to the gates. A party of five Americans stood outside—two men, two women and a girl.

"This is the Villa Ariadne?" asked one of the women.

"It is," said O'Mally, touching his cap.

"He speaks English!" cried the woman, turning joyfully to the others.

"We wish to see the villa and the park."

"The villa is now occupied, signorina," replied O'Mally, "but you are permitted to see the park and gardens."

"How much?" asked one of the men.

"Cinquante," said O'Mally, then correcting himself, "for each person."

"Ten cents? Two lire fifty? Why, this is downright extortion!" declared the woman.

O'Mally gave vent to a perfect Italian shrug and put a hand out suggestively toward the gates.

"Oh, come, dear," protested one of the men wearily, "you've dragged us up here from Fiesole, and I'm not going back without seeing what's to be seen."

Solemnly Pietro watched them pass, wondering what the terms were.

O'Mally led the party to the fountain.

"This," O'Mally began, with a careless wave of the hand, "is the famous fountain by Donatello. It was originally owned by Catherine d'Medissy. The Borgias stole it from her, and Italy and France nearly came to war over it."

"The Borgias?" doubtfully. "Were these two families contemporaneous?"

"They were," scornfully.

The quintet consulted their guide-books, but before they had located the paragraph referring to this work O'Mally was cunningly leading them away.

He passed on to the antique marbles, explaining how this one was Nero's, that one Caligula's, that one Tiberius's. He lied so gracefully that the tomb of Aeneas must have rocked.

"Do you know," said the woman, who had not yet spoken, "you speak English with an accent I do not understand."

O'Mally shivered. Was she going to spring dago on him? "I am an Italian," he said solemnly. "I was born, however, in County Clare. My father and mother were immigrants to Ireland."

"Ma," whispered the girl, "ask him for one of those buttons."

The stage whisper was overheard by O'Mally. "These buttons," he explained, "cost a lira each, but if the signorina really wishes one"—And thus another lira swelled the profits of the day.

At the gates O'Mally received his poubroire (tip) of 20 centesimi and returned to Pietro.

"Quando!" he cried.

O'Mally handed him the exact amount, minus the lira for the button.

"Santa Maria! All thees? How? No more I take dem! You!"

O'Mally sat down on the bench and laughed. It was as good a part as he had ever had.

Early evening. La Signorina leaned over the terrace wall, her hand idly trailing over the soft cool roses.

Stretched out on either hand, white and shadowy, lay the great road. She was dreaming. Presently upon the silence came the echo of galloping horses. Two horsemen came cantering toward the Villa Ariadne. She heard their voices.

"Jack, this has been the trip of my life. Verona, Padua, Bologna and now Florence! This is life. Nothing like it!"

"It has been enjoyable, Dan. I only hope our luggage will be at the hotel."

La Signorina's hand closed convulsively over a rose and crushed it.

"A last canter to Fiesole!"

The two went clattering down the road.

La Signorina walked slowly back to the villa. It was fatality that this man should again cross her path.

A GENEROUS OFFER

F. B. Johnson & Co. Will Refund
Your Money if Parisian Sage Doesn't Banish Dandruff.

Pretty strong talk, perhaps you say, but it's honest talk, every word of it, because if F. B. Johnson & Co. was not absolutely certain; if they did not know from actual results obtained they could not make such a generous offer.

Parisian Sage, which can now be obtained in every town in America, is also guaranteed to stop falling hair and itching scalp.

It is the ideal, delightful, rejuvenating hair dressing that makes hair grow in abundance. Parisian Sage is a prime favorite with women, because it keeps the hair brilliant and fascinating, is daintily perfumed, and is not sticky or greasy.

The price for a large bottle is only 50 cents at F. B. Johnson & Co. who guarantees it. Sold everywhere, or direct, all charges prepaid, by the American makers, Giroux Mfg. Co.

Mr. F. E. Wolcott is pleased to announce that he will continue the agency for ZEMO, the best known remedy for the treatment of eczema, pimples, dandruff, ring worm, prickly heat, tetter, hives or any other form of skin or scalp disease. Last year Zemo made some remarkable cures of chronic cases of skin diseases, and Mr. F. E. Wolcott says ZEMO gives the best results of any remedy he has ever sold for the prompt relief and positive cure of any form of skin or scalp disease. ZEMO is a clean, vegetable liquid for external use, pleasant and agreeable to use. Can be used freely on infants.

Rheumatism Cured in a Day.

Dr. Detchon's Relief for Rheumatism and Neuralgia radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and effective. It removes the cause and the disease quickly disappears. The first dose greatly benefits. 75 cents and $1. Sold by Hargrove & Mullin, druggists. 202178

SUSPICION GROWS

Further Revelations in Case of Alleged Wholesale Poisoning.

Boston, Nov. 18.—Word from Somerville says that arsenic has been found by Prof. Whitney of the Harvard medical school in the stomachs of Stephen Kelliher and Bridget Knowles of Somerville, whose bodies were exhumed last September. Stephen Kelliher was the husband and Bridget Knowles was the sister of Mrs. Mary Kelliher, who is now in jail at East Cambridge under an indictment charging her with the murder of her sister-in-law and three of her own children.

There were life insurance policies aggregating $3,500 on Stephen Kelliher and Bridget Knowles; $2,500 on the former and $1,000 on the latter. These sums were collected by Mrs. Mary Kelliher. These were the largest amounts of insurance on the lives of members of the Kelliher family which were collected by the woman now under indictment. The bodies of Stephen Kelliher and Bridget Knowles were exhumed after Prof. Whitney had found that there was evidence of arsenic in the bodies of the other four persons.

THE INDEPENDENTS BEING TAKEN OVER

The Postal Said to Be Carrying Out Designs.

Columbus, O., Nov. 18.—There is no doubt in the minds of Ohio independent telephone men that the Postal Telegraph company is buying up all their properties. Coincident with the announcement that the Columbus-Columbus Telephone company had been sold to interests who concealed their identity through their agent, F. R. Huntington, vice president of a local bank, it was given out that plans were nearing completion for a merger of all independent companies in the state into a corporation, and control of this combine will be with the Postal.

FINED FOR LIBELING DEAD

Judgment Passed on Keithley, Who Declares He Will Not Pay.

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 18.—Passing judgment on the verdict rendered recently finding Arthur Keithley, a disbarred attorney, guilty of libeling the late Judge McCullough, Judge W. I. Stearns in the county court ordered the former lawyer to pay a fine of $200 and costs of proceedings. The alternative of this fine is a period of more than three months in the workhouse.

Keithley declares he will not pay the fine and will apply immediately for supersedeas for an appeal, but unless he furnishes a heavy bond the supersedeas will be refused.

VICTORS IN THE RECENT ELECTION

A Word About the Candidates Who Have Been Elected to Serve as Mayors and Governors.

THE November elections this year were remarkable chiefly for the interest which prevailed all over the country in local contests. The struggle over the election of mayor and board of estimate and apportionment in New York city wholly overshadowed the constitutional amendments submitted in the state. California had no gubernatorial election, but if there had been a state contest this year it would have meant little compared with the intense importance attached to the mayoralty question. In Ohio there was no state election, but the political excitement over the fifth candidacy of Tom L. Johnson ran above the usual high water mark. In Toledo the candidacy of Brand Whitlock was almost equally engrossing. In Louisville the contest over city and county tickets aroused greater activity than has been attached to a state campaign for many a day. Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Virginia elected governors, but the day in neither commonwealth was marked by a title of the interest inspired by some of the municipal fights. Altogether it was a great day for local political manifestations.

In New York city the Tammany candidate, William J. Gaynor, was elected by a satisfactory majority, but the remainder of the ticket was defeated. In Cleveland the redoubtable Tom Johnson lost his political grip and went down to defeat at the hands of his Republican opponent, Herman C. Baehr. Brand Whitlock proved himself still to be the choice of Toledo. Indianapolis elected Samuel Lewis Shank, Republican. Cincinnati elected Dr. Louis Schwab, Republican. New Jersey went largely Republican as far as its new legislature is concerned, but Jersey City elected H. Otto Wittmann, Democrat, for its mayor.

Louis P. Fuhrmann, Democrat, is the new mayor of Buffalo, but the majority of his political associates on the ticket were defeated.

Eben S. Draper succeeds himself as governor of Massachusetts. Aram J. Pothier does likewise in Rhode Island, and William Hodges Mann, Democrat, is the new governor of Virginia.

McCarthy's Campaign Slogan.

In San Francisco the political reform movement received a temporary check by the triumph of the Union Labor candidate, P. H. McCarthy, whose campaign slogan was, "If I'm elected I'll make San Francisco the Paris of America."

A few days before the election Mr. McCarthy stated as follows what he and the members of his party would do for San Francisco if he were elected mayor:

"When I am elected mayor I propose to give San Francisco a decent, clean, honest government for the people, by the people and of the people. I intend to stand by the platform of the Union Labor party, which guarantees improvements in every district, including the outlying sections; the building of sewers and schoolhouses, for which the money has already been secured, but which has not been expended as arranged for; the bringing of pure water from the Hetch-Hetchy in the least possible time, in the best possible manner, at the minimum cost compatible with good work, and the erection of a city hall, where all the municipal offices will be located. I will stop these dissensions which have divided our citizens and stop the waste of money on automobile joy rides and trips to Europe, using it instead in improvements for the people."

Friend of the People.

William J. Gaynor, the mayor elect of the city of New York, has always been an anti-Tammany man and an independent Democrat. True, he was nominated by Tammany this year, but not until he had been named by various independent organizations. He first came into prominence by his prosecution of the notorious boss John V. McKane, whom he sent to the penitentiary. He afterward was elected supreme court justice as an independent Democrat with a Republican endorsement. On the bench he was noted for his radical views and for the manner in which he occasionally stood the lawyers on their heads. He has generally been regarded as a friend of the people and a foe of bosses and corporations. He twice declined to run for mayor and once refused to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Year's Salary Bet on Judge Gaynor, New York's Mayor Elect --- What Some Promise to Do.

In the recent campaign Judge Gaynor occupied an anomalous position. In the spring and early summer before the nominations he was generally regarded as the most promising independent and anti-Tammany candidate. Then appeared his famous letter in which he said that he would accept the Tammany nomination, after which the committee of one hundred, the Republicans and other kindred organizations refused further to consider him.

Victory of Fusionists.

Outside of mayor the fusionists control all important offices in New York. The real government of the city is invested in the board of estimate and apportionment. On this board the mayor has three votes, the comptroller three votes, the president of the board of aldermen three votes, the president of the borough of Manhattan two votes, the president of the borough of Brooklyn two votes, borough president of the Bronx one vote, borough president of Queens one vote, borough president of Richmond one vote; total, sixteen votes. All these, with the exception of Gaynor, are fusionists or independents. The comptroller, W. A. Prendergast, is a fusion Republican. The president of the board of aldermen, John Purroy Mitchell, is a fusion Democrat, which is also the case with George McAneny, borough president of Manhattan, the man who investigated the deposed Tammany borough president Abeorn. The borough president of Brooklyn, A. E. Steers, Borough President of the Bronx C. C. Miller and Borough President of Richmond G. Cromwell are all fusionists, while the borough president of Queens, L. Gresser, is a Hearst independent. This gives the anti-Tammany forces fifteen votes to Gaynor's three.

An amusing part of all this is that Gaynor repeatedly said that he would not serve unless his Tammany associates could be elected with him. President Mitchell of the board of aldermen, who would become mayor in case Gaynor resigned, is now calling on that gentleman to make good his threats.

Tyball Wallace, the steward of the Cayuga club in New York city, showed his confidence in Judge Gaynor as the winner of the mayoralty election in New York when he said recently:

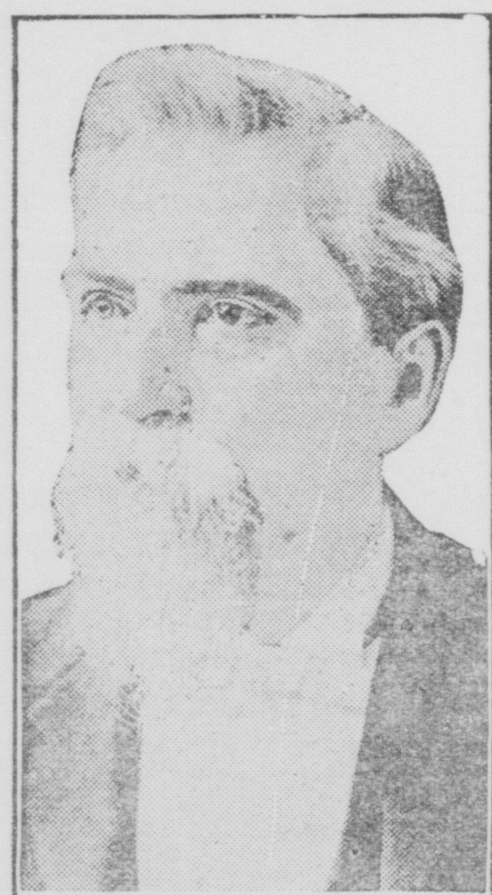

"Well, I've just bet my year's salary in advance on the outcome of the election, and every cent of it on Gaynor at odds of 2 to 1."

"I always make a little on the county ticket every year, but seldom take a chance on the state ticket. It is too uncertain. This year there is nothing but Gaynor. Poor Bannard hasn't a look in."

Neither Dictator Nor Boss.

Mr. Baehr, mayor elect of Cleveland, says he makes no pretensions to being a public speaker, and he states that he is neither a dictator nor a boss.

He has been elected three times to the office of county recorder. His service in that office has been businesslike and a decided improvement over that of any of his predecessors. His personal record indicates that he is a man of integrity, business capacity and of considerable executive ability.

He promised if elected to surround himself officially with men who by reason of their experience, honesty and general fitness would be thoroughly qualified to perform the duties of the respective offices to the best interest of the city. He also pledged himself to secure to the city of Cleveland a businesslike administration which will at all times keep in touch with and make every effort to bring about the things which will make Cleveland a greater city and a better one in which to live.

Hot Air.

"No. Mostly lung."--Puck.

The Lure of the Arctic.
Polar life brings strange revelations. A man who is a model of amiability at home is a savage in those high latitudes, where Mother Nature and humanity seem bent on revealing their crudest characteristics. When a man goes to the arctic first he dislikes it. If he is caught there one winter he vows to himself that he will never repeat the adventure. Yet when he gets back home he discovers that the "white silence" has a compelling fascination. I have never known a man who could resist the chance to go again, even at a financial loss. After twenty years of experience, if another opportunity came to me, it is doubtful whether any consideration would prevent my taking up the work again. Once the charm of those long months of daylight, the mysterious deathly silence of those long nights, the white glare of that brilliant moonlight across trackless wastes of snow and ice, has been felt a man is unable to resist the siren call of the north that has become more to him than family, home, friends or money. Gladly he takes his life in his hands and fares forth again into those frozen seas.--Captain Edwin Cordin of Ziegler Polar Expedition in National Magazine.

Bear Ague.

"Speaking of 'bear fever,'" said a survey official, "reminds me of 'bear ague.' Never heard of it, eh? Well, I first encountered it in Wrangel narrows, Alaska, a number of years ago. We were on the old surveying steamer Patterson. "Just as we rounded a point of land not more than 200 yards distant a big black bear was seen on the beach looking at us. Eight men took up rifles at once and were about to shoot when I told them to wait and fire all at once in a volley when I gave the order. They all took careful beads on the beast. 'Ready, fire!' I shouted. "There was a rattle of musketry as the eight pieces were discharged, and every one looked to see the animal's death throes. There was the bear running up the hill as lively as a jack rabbit. Not a shot had hit him. Bear ague, that's all. Every man's hand was trembling so he couldn't hit a house. Buck fever's nowhere alongside of it."--San Francisco Call.

Her Vocal Selection.

A wedding was recently held which was of the fashionable kind, and there were all sorts of preparations and frills. Among the "features" was a song by a baritone singer of considerable local renown, and just what he was to warble was a matter of considerable discussion.

A little sister six years old of the bride took much interest in the program. "Sis," she said, "I want to sing at your wedding."

"No, dear; you can't sing," was the rejoinder.

"But I can, and I want to," she pleaded.

"What would you sing?" her father asked her.

"Heaven, Look With Pity!" was her rejoinder, and her father hasn't got over it yet.--Kansas City Journal.

Ladies First!

"Scratch a southerner and you find a knightly soul" might be said to be one of the morals of the Chicago Record-Herald story below. The second moral is reasonably obvious:

"What is the reason?" began the irritated traveler from the north, "that the trains in this part of the country are always behind time? I have never seen one yet that ran according to its schedule."

"That, suh," replied the dignified Georgian, "is a matiah that is easily explained. It is due to southern chivalry, suh."

"Southern chivalry! Where does that come in?"

"You see, suh, the trains are always late in this country because they wait for the ladies, God bless them!"

The Patient Man.

Mr. Henpeck had hesitated a long while about doing this bold thing, but he felt that now was the time or never. "Dear," he said, in a very timid voice, "I wish you wouldn't call me 'Leo' any more."

"Why not?" demanded his wife explosively. "'Leo' is your given name."

"I know, my dear, but it makes my friends laugh when you call me that. I was thinking you might call me 'Job,' just for a pet name."--Catholic Standard and Times.

One Beauty of Classical Music.

Miss Gush--Do you like classical music, Mr. Sourdopp?

Mr. Sourdopp--Yes.

Miss Gush--Oh, I am so glad! Do you not find it in great inspiration, sublime thought and true beauty?

Mr. Sourdopp--Not exactly. I like it because no blithering idiot can beat time to it with his foot.

Matrimony Made Easy.

"Can a fellow marry comfortably on a salary of $500 a year?" asked the young man.

"Sure, he can," replied the sage of Sageville--"that is, provided he has saved his last year's salary and can get his employer to pay the next year's in advance."--Chicago News.

Not Games of Chance.

The Vicar--Is it true, Samuel, that your father allows games of chance to be played at your house? The Boy--There ain't no chance about it, zur--they all cheats!--London Opinion.

Circumstantial Evidence.

"De Villers has quit scorching." "Machine all in?" "Nope; he's dead." "Oh, that doesn't prove anything."--Harper's Weekly.

RETURNED HOME JUST IN TIME

Court Had Been Asked to Partition Estate.

FRIENDS THOUGHT HIM DEAD

Aged Indiana Man's Mission of Vengeance Carried Him Far Afield, but He Returned Satisfied With Outcome of Quest That Led Him Into the Desert--His Friends, Thinking Him Dead, Had Applied For a Partition of the Estate of Newton A. Grabill at Anderson.

Anderson, Ind., Nov. 18.--On a Southern California desert the man who swindled Newton A. Grabill out of $3,500 lies dead and Mr. Grabill has returned home, ending a chase of 10,000 miles. He got back just in time to prevent the partition of his estate, his creditors having asked this action by the courts, believing he was dead.

Mr. Grabill is seventy-two years old, but strong in body and grim of will. One day last June Mr. Grabill, who is a miller of Dallville, was approached by a man who said he represented a brokerage firm at Chicago. The stranger persuaded Grabill that gold mines would be a profitable investment for his savings. Grabill handed him $3,500 in cash and made an appointment with him to meet him in Indianapolis and turn over the remainder of the amount he intended to invest.

At Indianapolis Grabill learned that he had been tricked. He then took up the trail of the swindler. It led to St. Louis and Denver, to New Mexico and Arizona. At length the swindler crossed the border into Mexico. Here he had the better of Grabill, who was confused by the language. But Grabill employed an agent.

Grabill and the detective followed the swindler into the California desert until the aged man was forced to stop. Within a few weeks the detective returned and gave Grabill sufficient proof that he had caught up with the swindler at a lonely ranchhouse, that they fought, and that he killed the swindler. His body was buried in the desert. Satisfied, Grabill set out for Indiana.

CHURCH WRECKED

Dynamiters Commit Sacrilegious Deed at Clinton.

Clinton, Ind., Nov. 18.--By an explosion of dynamite Sacred Heart Catholic church at this place was partly wrecked. The church, built at a cost of $20,000, was dedicated July 13 last.

The Rev. Father Maher, formerly chaplain at St. Mary-of-the-Woods, has been priest in charge for the last six years, and through his efforts the church was built. The damage by the explosion is estimated at $1,000.

The dissatisfaction of some members of the church with the pastor because he insisted on building the church is suggested as a possible motive for the crime.

BECOMING SERIOUS

More Evidence of Dynamiters Revealed at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Nov. 18.--It has been discovered that the stone bridge over White river at Tenth street has been dynamited and that some of the larger stones have been displaced by the explosive, rendering passage over the structure dangerous. The police connect the outrage with the dynamiting of four structures on which a non-union contractor was working and attempts to destroy which were made two weeks ago. The city has offered a reward for the arrest of the dynamiters of the four structures, and Mayor Bookwalter raised a fund among merchants to be used as a reward, also.

Young Tennessean Captured.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 18.--At the end of a chase of twenty-six miles a young man giving his name as C. H. Hughey was captured by a posse of farmers. With him were found a horse and buggy he had stolen and five turkeys. The accused man admitted the thefts, which were committed within two miles of Fort Wayne. Hughey says he is a racehorse man and that his home is in Tennessee. He is twenty years of age.

Deneen's Worthy Ambition.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 18.--Railroad grade crossings in Illinois must go. Governor Deneen has fixed upon this reform as one of the achievements of his administration and the Illinois railroad and warehouse commission has been carrying on a quiet investigation of a practical solution of the problem. It is the governor's ambition to have Illinois set an example.

Indiana V. M. C. A. in Convention.

Kokomo, Ind., Nov. 18.--The fortieth annual convention of the Indiana Young Men's Christian association this afternoon began a four days' session here. The convention, which is being held in Grace M. E. church, was opened by President Sharon E. Jones of Richmond, who named the committees which will have charge of the work of the convention.

Words and Music of

ADDISON BURKHARDT'S

Big Song Hit

"WHEN TETRAZZINI SINGS"

"WHEN TETRAZZINI SINGS" is a song by GERTRUDE HOFMANN, in "THE MIMIC WORLD." Complete piano and vocal score and music of this big song hit is being offered by Addison Burkhardt, publisher of "THE MIMIC WORLD." This is the hit of the Shubert production, and publishing rights of this song have been secured from The Trebush Publishing Company, Publishers of all Shubert Musical attractions.

MR. EDWARD LASKA, General Manager of THE TREBUHS PUBLISHING CO., says, "WHEN TETRAZZINI SINGS" is one of our best sellers and the Messrs. Shubert were very reluctant in conceding to the publication of this song in the newspapers. I am sure it will meet with favor among your readers."

Addison Burkhardt, who wrote the lyrics of this song, is the writer of "The Runaways," and although one of the youngest he is one of the best known lyric writers in the country.

GERTRUDE HOFMANN is famous the world over for her imitations, and she was one of the first to popularize the Salome dance in America.

The three big song hits in "THE MIMIC WORLD" are:

- "MY LADY WINE."
- "THE RAG-TIME MUSIC MAN" and
- "WHEN TETRAZZINI SINGS,"

so we can assure our readers of a musical treat this week.

SENDING CARDS TO FAR AWAY CHINA

Miss Winifred Muir Will Know She Has Many Friends Here on Christmas Day.

IT IS ALSO HER BIRTHDAY

Miss Winifred Muir, engaged in missionary work in China, will remember on Christmas day, which is also her birthday, that her Rushville friends far far away have not forgotten her. They are sending her post cards now, and it is likely that Miss Muir will carry off the honors in Nan Chang, China, when it comes to getting Christmas mail. It is necessary to send the cards now in order that they may reach there in time.

RECEIVES BADLY MASHED FOOT

Young Roger Miller Injured at I. & C. Car Barn When a Gear Fell Over.

SPENT DAY WITH HIS FATHER

Roger, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Miller of West Seventh street, received a badly mashed foot at the I. & C. car barns yesterday which will probably keep him out of school several weeks. As there was no school yesterday, young Miller spent the day with his father, who is employed at the barns. A gear fell over on the youth's foot, severely mashing it and causing him much pain.

WILL DECIDE THE MEANING OF A LAW

County And City Forces Will Combine Tonight to Get at Meaning of Legislature.

WHO COLLECTS CITY TAXES?

The forces of the county and city will combine tonight in an effort to decide exactly what the last legislature meant by the city tax collecting law. Whether the taxes are to be gathered by the city treasurer or the county treasurer is the question which will be definitely decided tonight. There has been considerable question in regard to the law and the city treasurer does not care to have the work thrown on his shoulders if it does not belong there. The county treasurer has heretofore collected the city taxes. The officials who will meet in the auditor's office tonight are; The county council, city council, Jesse Stone, county auditor, Alvan Moor, county treasurer, John Tittsworth, county attorney, and George Young, city attorney.

The W. R. C. held a reception at the home of Mrs. Addie Mattox last night in honor of Mrs. Eliza Crisler of Greensburg, who inspected the work of the Corps in the afternoon. The gathering also was in the form of a miscellaneous shower for Miss Claire M. Gregg, and many beautiful articles were presented to her. During the intermission in the work in the afternoon Miss Gregg was presented with an elegant silver souvenir spoon as a token from the members of the love and esteem in which she is held. Mrs. Crisler found the W. R. C. in very good condition, both as to work and finances, and had a very few criticisms to make. She gave a short talk on patriotism and the necessity for the continuation, saying the future great grandchildren of the members would speak with pride of the fact that their ancestors were members of the Woman's Relief Corps.
